Statement of Compliance

The Responsible Individual must prepare the statement of compliance.

CIW have published guidance on completing the quality of care review which provides advice on what could be contained within the statement of compliance.

Set out your statement of compliance in respect to the four well-being areas below.

The extent to which people feel their voices are heard, they have choice about their care and support, and opportunities are made available to them.

Alastair house are committed to ensuring that voices of service users are heard and that service users have choices about their care and support. This is done through a pre-assessment of needs and a care-planning approach to help identify what support is required. The care plans of each service user include a risk assessment and details of the healthcare needs, details of so cial interests and any religious requirements and specialist arrangement. This plan allows staff to accommodate each service-user and use a personalised approach to reflect the service user swishes and enables them to make choices for their own care. Staff within Alastair house, work in a person-centred way, and this has been reflected by the positive testimonials received by service users' family and friends.

Alastair house regular reviews feedback from service-users' frie nds and family to consider the needs of service users. Alastair house would like to further improve the opportunities available to service user through further training for staff around the importance of person-centred led support which will be reviewed by the responsible individual and liaison with the manager of the home

The extent to which people are happy and supported to maintain their ongoing health, development and overall wellbeing. For children, this will also include intellectual, social and behavioural development.

Service users within Alastair house receive high levels of support to maintain their happiness, health and wellbeing. Alastair house encourage service users to maintain links with their family and friends in order to promote their wellbeing. The service-user scare is fully optimised with the support from their detail person al plans which include any health information, additional support needs and general details about that individual. These person al plans ensure that the care that service users receive are per sonalised and person-centred which will enable choice and max imise their overall wellbeing.

Unfortunately, due to the pandemic, it has been difficult for Alas tair house to arrange various social events and outings which o ften took place prior to COVID-19. Service-users themselves w ere particularly vulnerable in terms of their health needs and th erefore Alastair house prioritised their health through following government guidelines and minimising the risk of infection. This has meant that for the past 2 years, service-users have had limited face-to-face contact with family and friends due to social distancing measures, as well as having to reduce the amount of time in social settings. Alastair house recognises that the pande mic has had a lasting impact on the overall health and wellbein g of the service users and will be reintroducing more social events and exploring different ways to help restore the emotional/p hysical wellbeing of the service-users.

The extent to which people feel safe and protected from abuse and neglect.

Alastair house protect service users from abuse and neglect an d strongly adhere to the safeguarding procedures underpinned by the Social Services and Wellbeing Act (2014). Staff are required to undertake mandatory training on safeguarding procedures and are aware to spot signs of abuse. Staff are aware to report to the line manager if any safeguarding concerns are raised, and the local safeguarding board is immediately notified. Alast air house would like to increase staff confidence in identifying a buse of vulnerable adults which will be discussed with the manager to arrange further training. Improvements will be reviewed on a 6-month period by the responsible individual.

The extent to which people live in accommodation that best supports their wellbeing and achievement of their personal outcomes.

Alastair house is an accommodation-based facility with a capacity of 15 residents and 6-day care respite. Alastair house is committed to ensuring the home best supports service users' wellbeing and achievement of their personal goals through the living and communal areas of the home. Alastair house aims to recreate a warm and friendly environment to promote the wellbeing of users and aims to give service-users choice on their own environment. Alastair house identify themselves as a 'home' rather than a facility, meaning that they strive for service users to identify the place as one of their own. Service-users' needs are prioritised, and the house has made many adaptions to help support their wellbeing. However, due to COVID-19 and the effects of the pandemic, it has been difficult to personalise the service-users' rooms due to adhering to health and safety guidelines to minimise risk of infection.

As restrictions have eased, Alastair house will aim to give servic e-users more of a choice in how they would like their rooms to I ook like and will attempt to make these arrangements to satisfy the wellbeing of the users. In addition, it has been noted that th ere is a need to hire a new handyman in order to assist with the general maintenance of the home to ensure it remains safe and hospitable.
